

ROTARY DISTRICT 2241
ROTARY CLUB BARLAD

INTERNATIONAL SUMMER CAMP 2009

03 – 21 august 2009

“Paleontological Research Camp, Mânzați, BARLAD, ROMÂNIA”

www.rotarybarlad.net

OUR OFFER: The paleontological site of Manzati, Barlad, Romania represents the locus typicus for the Deinotherium gigantissimum species, discovered in 1890 by the professor Grigore Ștefănescu and at present exposed at the Grigore Antipa Natural Science museum, in Bucharest. Resuming the research in 2001 has led to professor Gabriel Milan Sava's discovery in 2006 of a rhino's skeleton, which is at present being rebuilt. We wish this camp to blend the paleontological research activity with the relaxation, trips, having fun and cultural exchange of the participants.

THE EXPERIENCE: It is not necessary a previous experience of the participants in the field of palaeontology. They will receive all the necessary information at the opening of the camp. Of great importance to the success of your experience will be your willingness to work in a team atmosphere.

SCHEDULE: Besides the paleontological research, the schedule contains also: camp-fire, touristic trip (at Northern Moldova's monasteries), souvenir shopping, festive dinners, going out (at bars or discos), spare time for socializing and sightseeing. This will be a rewarding, challenging experience that you will remember for the rest of your life. For more details:
